Weber blasts Allen

By John Milazzo
Staff affiliate

Former Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber, a Republican, unloaded criticisms on Democratic incumbent Dick Allen, Wednesday.

Weber, on an interim appointment as Ford County state's attorney in eastern Illinois, is running unopposed for the GOP state's attorney nomination.

Allen faces attorney William Haine, Alton, in the Democratic primary.

Comparing Allen's performance in office to "a Mad Hatter at a tea party," Weber leveled charges including ineffectiveness, grandstanding and neglect of responsibilities at Allen.

Weber criticized Allen as a "consistent publicity hound." He slammed Allen for hiring a $12,000 per year "public relations specialist" at taxpayers' expense.

Weber said Myles McCahill, Allen's personal friend and aide, is on the public payroll partly to help "Allen's re-election campaign."

"McCahill's salary is not only unfair to taxpayers, but his personal disrespect for the law is equally inappropriate," Weber said, citing a recent scrape of McCahill's with a Madison County sheriff's deputy. McCahill was threatened with arrest before agreeing to leave a Godfrey tavern where he allegedly was found after hours.

Neither Allen nor McCahill could be reached for comment. Weber scoffed at a series of "well-publicized public hearings" against Cencora Cable Television that Weber said were planned by Allen and proved unproductive.

Specific allegations by Weber against Allen's administration included:

- A decision to cancel monthly docket call meetings with prosecutors. Weber said this has created inequity in plea bargains.
- A higher number of cases filed over the first three years of Allen's administration with a lower proportion of dispositions.

'Surplus' budget sounds great but raises for 'bosses' coming

GRANITE CITY — Retiring 5th Ward Alderman Jake Varadani made his last report as chairman of the Finance Committee a memorable one.

At the City Council meeting Tuesday, Varadani announced that, after numerous meetings, the proposed city budget had been cut down from a projected $1.1 million deficit to a projected surplus of more than $43,000.

Varadani said estimated revenue for the next fiscal year, May 1988 to April 1989, is $10,592,923 and the proposed spending totals $10,549,694, leaving the potential surplus.

We went over every item very carefully and all cuts that could be made have been made," Varadani said.

The proposed budget, still in rough draft, may include raises for bargaining groups such as police and firemen, officials hinted, but it does not reflect salary increases for "white collar or appointed" city employees.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse said probable pay increases for the latter two groups "will eat up most of Jake's $43,000."

"This year's budget will be balanced," Cruse said, "but we can't give the bosses nothing when everyone else is getting a raise."

Varadani said department heads and aldermen soon will be getting copies of the proposed budget.

Varadani officially completed his council service Tuesday. He has moved to a rural area near Maryville.

Only a drill

PREPARED FOR A TORNADO: The students at Louis Baer School in Madison practice tornado preparedness for the last time Tuesday during a statewide tornado drill. The school is scheduled to be closed at the end of the school year. The 160 students were able to take their positions in the hallways in less than a minute.

Village again expands by 55 acres on Ill. 162

PONTOON BEACH — The village boundaries have expanded again along the north side of Illinois 162 and now reach Granite City's eastern corporate line on the highway.

Four business places, including Carter Lumber Co., and approximately 55 acres were annexed by the Village Board at a special meeting Feb. 27.

A petition for annexation was filed by Perigen Pools and Supply Center, 3502 Illinois 162, and no objections to the action were presented at the annexation meeting. Village Clerk Mary Warren said.

In addition to Carter Lumber, which also has a plumbing, electric and heating division, and Perigen Pools and Supply, other businesses in the annexed area are Jack's 4 by 4 Auto Repair Center, 3500 Illinois 162, and Joe's Bait and Tackle Shop.

The annexed property does not include the residence of Udell Bischoff, adjacent to Illinois 162, but does encompass agricultural land owned by the Bischoffs, Warren said.

Also excluded is a small parcel located directly on the highway, which was formerly owned by Kenneth Lewis.

The annexation line then turns south and crosses Illinois 162 to join state-owned land annexed into the village last May.

In that action, the village took in a long strip of Horseshoe Lake shoreline, about 500 feet wide at its widest point and amounting to about 28 acres.

The annexation of state property, extending to the water's edge of Horseshoe Lake, was approved by Gov. James Thompson and the Illinois Department of Conservation.

The area annexed in May started to the east at Lake Drive and State Aid 35 and continued west, paralleling SA 35 and Illinois 162 on the south side of the highway to the Granite City line.

The 28 acres consisted mainly of state-owned land between Horseshoe Lake and the highway and ends where Granite City Steel's water treatment facility adjoins the lake. The latter area was annexed by Granite City in July 1986.

In early June, Jethrow's Quick Shop and Service Station, on the south side of Illinois 162 at Moellenbrock Road and west of Illinois 162-SA 35 junction, petitioned to be annexed and was taken into the village.

Prior to the Feb. 27 annexation, the village cleared the action through the courts, Warren said.

Jesse Jackson may visit Venice

VENICE — The chances the Rev. Jesse Jackson will make a campaign stop in Venice are "pretty good," the Rev. John Henry Williams, coordinator for the Venice-Madison Jesse Jackson for President Committee, said Wednesday.

A precise date is not set. Jackson, a Democratic Party presidential contender, will be in the Southern states until after the March 8 primaries. He then is expected to move his campaign focus to Chicago and other Illinois areas prior to the March 15 primary here, Williams said.

"I heard Monday that he is definitely coming to this area, but no date was announced," Williams said. The information came from Jackson delegates in East St. Louis, he said.

Williams plans to meet with Jackson's eldest son, the Rev. Douglas Jackson, who will speak at a rally for his father at 7 p.m. Friday at the West Side Missionary Baptist Church, 4674 Fogg Blvd., St. Louis.

The local Jackson rally would probably occur at the Venice High School gymnasium.

School Board members gave provisional approval at their Feb. 25 meeting, pending a firm date being selected.

Madison Avenue to be repaired

GRANITE CITY — A compromise proposal by 7th Ward Alderman Jeff Worthen paved the way for City Council approval Tuesday of a $700,000 renovation of Madison Avenue from 20th Street to Nameoki Road.

Worthen's plan calls for the project to be financed with $420,000 from motor fuel tax funds, with the balance coming from community development funds.

The first four blocks of Madison Avenue north of 20th Street, to 24th Street, are in an area eligible for community development funding, Worthen said.

The plan calls for another $280,000 in available MDT funds to be divided evenly among the seven wards for improvement projects recommended by aldermen.

The council approved the plan by an 8-5 vote. Paying it were Worthen, Pat Schuman, Steve

St. Clair Countian favors Fields

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Saying the Democratic Party needs a strong candidate to keep the 21st District Congressional seat, St. Clair County Board member Tom Petroff said March 1 he favors Madison County Auditor Pete Fields in the primary.

Petroff also said that, as chairman of the newly formed 130-member Democrats of Canteen Township, he was able to add a unanimous endorsement for Fields by the group.

"Even though the seat has been held by the Democrats for 40-plus years, we almost lost it the last election and it is just too close to consider it a sure thing," Petroff said.

Fields said he hopes this is the beginning of further support of his campaign in St. Clair County.

Petroff cited Fields' stand on defense and his ability in the financial field as the major factors leading to the endorsement. He said it was a decision "for Fields and not against" St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry Costello, who is also a candidate.

"This is not a reflection on the job done by Jerry Costello," Petroff said. "He is doing such a good job, I believe he should stay with us."

Mother wonders if son's blood product AIDS-proof

By JACK C. VENTIMIGLIA

GRANITE CITY — Hemophiliacs are neither in danger of greatly diminished blood supplies nor do they face increased dangers from AIDS or hepatitis B, according to national health organizations. But a Granite City mother is "very unconvinced."

Representatives of the Center for Disease Control, Atlanta, and the National Hemophilia Foundation, New York, stated they do not support a St. Louis-based letter about blood products used generally by hemophiliacs.

The letter to area hemophiliacs carries the name of Preston Strong, president of the Greater St. Louis Hemophilia Association, 2407 Country Wood Drive, Maryland Heights, Mo. It states a shortage of 10 million units of factor 8 and factor 9 blood clotting products for bleeders can be expected. Strong declined Wednesday to comment.

Tammy Robertson, mother of a Granite

City boy who has hemophilia and AIDS, is concerned a shortage might have resulted because pharmaceutical companies were worried their blood additive products contained the AIDS virus.

A management-level employee of a West Coast pharmaceutical company said the dry heat method is no longer being used there because it was not determined to be absolutely effective against the AIDS virus in blood products.

She said six Canadians who used dry heat-treated blood products from another company got AIDS, causing discontinuation of the process at her company. She added there are other cases where the source of AIDS infection was "muddy."

She declined to be identified, but said the West Coast company is using a more costly method to provide factors 8 and 9 blood products.

"There are no absolutes," said Dr. Janine Jason, a CDC expert in immunology and epidemiology, but she added the heat-treatment process is effective against AIDS.

Jason explained Wednesday that concern about AIDS in factor 8 and factor 9 blood products may have resulted from a study that indicates six Canadians contracted the virus after using heat-treated products for their blood disorders. She said donors were improperly screened.

Betty Jane Eisenpreis, spokeswoman with the National Hemophilia Foundation, said Wednesday the blood product given to the Canadians was heated under past guidelines. She said the product was not subjected long enough to heat and the heat was too low.

A Feb. 19, 1988, report from the National Hemophilia Foundation's Medical Science Advisory Commission states heat-treating is effective against AIDS, but not against hepatitis B.

Robertson said she is concerned that her son's life is in danger. If AIDS is not wiped out in the product, adding more of the virus to his blood decreases his chance for survival and, she said, if the product contains hepatitis B, her son's immune system could be weakened to the point that it kills him.

"All heat-treated products out there now are extremely safe" against the AIDS virus, Jason said.

Robertson said her sources in the medical profession provide a different view, but said the solution is for the new, more expensive products to be made available to her son. Illinois pays for his blood products.

Jason said hemophiliacs and others know hepatitis B is sometimes found in factors 8 and 9 products, but she said heat treatment remains a safe, cost-effective method of getting the life-saving blood additive.

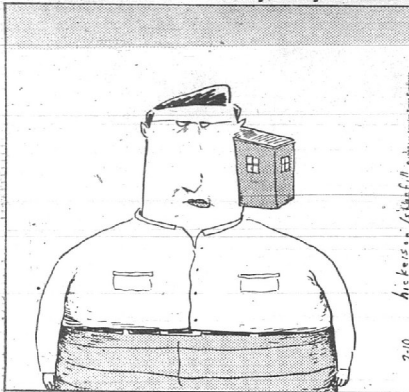

"That's just the price everyone was willing to pay," she said.

"Spotty shortages" have resulted from the decision by some pharmaceutical companies to stop using the heat-treatment process, Eisenpreis said.

Richard Witt, son of Phillip Witt and Vickie Nighohossian, has won the opportunity to compete at the state American Legion oratorical contest.

The contest is set for March 8 at Kanakake High School, according to Harold Chandler, 22nd District chairman.

Witt won the chance to compete by placing first at the division level Feb. 17 in Olney. American Legion Post 113 sponsored the division trip with the help of National Car Rental of Granite City, which furnished the automobile.

The oratorical contest is an opportunity for high school students to practice and display their skills at public speaking. Witt could win a $1,500 scholarship if he continues to win.

McClelland leads CF bike-a-thon

Dave McClelland, Madison, has been chosen as chairperson of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation's 1988 Bike-a-Thon in the Madison area.

The announcement came from Jack Buck, chairman of the Gateway Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and a Baseball Hall of Famer.

McClelland will be conducting a bike-a-thon this spring to raise funds to support research, care and teaching centers. There are three centers in the chapter area: St. Louis Children's Hospital, Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital and University of Missouri at Columbia.

Cystic fibrosis is America's number one genetic killer of children, taking more children's lives than muscular dystrophy and juvenile diabetes combined. Approximately 12 million Americans are unknowing, symptomless carriers of the gene that causes CF.

Due to research and improved therapy, 50 percent of CF patients are living to their 20th birthday. "The future looks bright as scientists continue in the search for a cure or control of cystic fibrosis," McClelland said. "Please support our bike-a-thon as a participant or by making a donation."

Recorder candidates promise service

By John D. Milazzo
Staff affiliate

In the race for the Democratic nomination for Madison County recorder of deeds, the candidates generally agree there are no real issues.

But there is also unanimity among candidates in the three-way race that a commitment to service is the overriding quality the winner must bring to the office.

Candidates for the $38,000-per-year job are incumbent Ronald P. "Rink" Lucas, 49, Maryville, Terry "Bones" Allan, 45, Collinsville, and Daniel R. Donohoo, 33, East Alton.

No Republican candidates have filed for the office in the March 15 primary election. "Our office is a public service; that's what we deal in and I believe we've done a good job," said Lucas, a former mayor of Maryville and county recorder for the past 16 years.

Donohoo says: "It's a service-oriented job, service both for the public and for other county offices. I believe I can improve that service."

Donohoo, a certified public accountant with his own accounting firm in Wood River, has been a member of the Madison County Board since 1984. He is a precinct committeeman and has taught accounting courses at Lewis and Clark Community College in Godfrey.

Allan, Collinsville Township supervisor and vice chairman of the Madison County Transit District, says the most important duty of the recorder "is to provide the residents of the county excellent service. This service should be offered in the most expeditious and cost-efficient manner."

Allan is also an auctioneer and an auto salesman for Jack Schmitt Ford in Collinsville.

While the contenders agree that service is the key ingredient in the operation of the office, each has a different approach to how that service could best be delivered.

Allan said he would integrate the computer system in the recorder's office with systems in other offices such as that of the supervisor of assessments.

Donohoo would look into the use of sophisticated computer systems, such as optical scanners, for rapid duplication of information that he said would "save employees a lot of time and provide for a smooth flow of information between the maps and plats and the supervisor of assessments' offices."

Lucas, an investigator for the Illinois Secretary of State's Office prior to his first term, said that under his administration the office has been recognized as one of the most modern in the state.

Lucas cites a 1980 national achievement award bestowed on his office by the National Association of Elected Officials for excellence and efficiency.

Lucas said eventually he may consider implementing a laser disk records storage system as one of the few remaining areas for improvement of the office.

Lucas, who did not receive the Democratic organization's endorsement for a fifth term, said he doesn't see the lack of the party nod as a significant problem.

"I think it looks pretty good for us, although I've seen a lot of signs for other candidates in the race. 'But, signs don't vote,' Lucas said.

Donohoo, who received the party endorsement, said he would likely have to take a cut in pay to work full-time as recorder. But that is a commitment he has made, he added.

"If I'm elected, there will be a definite change in the ownership" of his Wood River accounting business, Donohoo said, although "I may retain an interest in it."

Donohoo owns the business and the building it occupies: "I might merge with another (accounting) firm or let someone else operate it."

"I like serving the public; I don't like being locked up in a room," Donohoo said, adding that he believes he could maintain a better relationship with the County Board than the incumbent.

Allan said, "While I could legally keep this job as township supervisor, I have said that I wouldn't." The township position pays $17,500 annually.

"I would continue on the weekends as an auctioneer," he added. That is a service Allan regularly performs without charge for various charitable and church organizations.

Allan said his experience as township supervisor includes working on such projects as the recently completed $400,000 Collinsville Township senior citizen center.

"News in review" provides a summary of top stories from the area. The column is designed to assist out-of-town readers who do not receive the Sunday and Wednesday newspapers:

Haine says Allen 'selling out justice'
GRANITE CITY — The plea-bargained sentence of Anthony Fisher is another example of State's Attorney Dick Allen "selling out justice," Bill Haine said Thursday.

Haine, an Alton attorney, is challenging Allen for state's attorney in the Democratic Party primary March 15.

"I think every voter in the county ought to rivet attention just for a few moments to another state's attorney plea bargain. This is another example of selling out justice," Haine said angrily.

Fisher, 27, Alton, received a 39-year sentence Tuesday after entering an "Alford plea" to killing Del L. Higgins, 20, formerly of Granite City. The plea allowed Fisher to admit the state had sufficient evidence to convict him without admitting to all the state's evidence.

Haine said, "In the plea bargaining, the criminals have won again and the people have lost."

Despite all rumors, 5th Ward seat open

GRANITE CITY — Retiring 5th Ward Alderman Jake Varadjan's seat is being pursued by "approximately 100 people that I know of," according to Mayor Von Dee Cruse.

Varadjan and fellow 5th Ward Alderman Lloyd Bailey have each selected a candidate.

"I have spoken with both Bailey and Varadjan," Cruse said, "but I have not promised anything to anyone."

Not so, Bailey said.

"The mayor asked me to find someone to replace Jake," Bailey said. "I finally talked Jerry Krug into trying for the job. We got together a resume and, about a month ago, went to see the mayor."

"I introduced Jerry and the mayor looked over the resume and then looked right at Jerry and said, 'Well, as far as I'm concerned, you can consider yourself the next alderman,'" said Bailey. "I couldn't believe it."

Varadjan's choice as a replacement is Ralph Astorian, 55, 1716 Maple St. Astorian said he has had three interviews with the mayor, but hasn't been given a firm commitment.

Suit charges city with jailing woman illegally

GRANITE CITY City and police officials declined specific comment on a lawsuit filed Feb. 24 naming the city and Detective Sgt. Don Knicker as defendants.

Attorney William Enyard, Belleville, filed suit in the Madison County Circuit Court on behalf of Glenda Hermann, formerly of rural Granite City, alleging a violation of her civil rights, malicious prosecution, and false arrest and imprisonment.

Hermann charges she was arrested by Knight in March 1987 during the double-murder trial of Jack C. Bruce and was charged with possessing a converted or stolen car.

Dutko, Dohnal cite experience

By Bill Winter
Staff writer

Candidates with extensive experience in public office are rivals March 15 for the Democratic nomination in Madison County Board District 24.

Frank Dutko, 60, a Granite City Steel security guard and retired Madison police chief and alderman, is the incumbent. Serving on the County Board since 1980, he chairs its License and Liquor Committee and is a member of the Right of Way, Personnel and Sewer committees.

Edward J. Dohnal, 51, a shipping warehouse worker at Columbian Chemical Co., St. Louis, has served on the Madison Board of Education for seven years. A Madison police commissioner, he is a seven-year member of the Quad City area's Special Education Region board, which he leads as president.

Each of those seeking the board office is married and the father of five children. The two candidates differ on whether County Board members should hold more than one elective office.

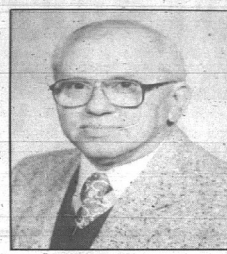

Dohnal approves of two offices for officials "if they have the time and are willing to serve their community."

Dutko says, "No board member should hold more than one elective office other than a precinct committeeman who is only protecting his primary elected office in his area. There is a conflict when an officeholder has two elective offices. I resigned as 2nd Ward alderman when I became a member of the County Board."

Dohnal favors a county governmental system in which the people who have been elected to the board are representing the people of their district.

He is not actively advocating countywide election of the county board chairman but would not object to this form of government if there would be no additional election costs to be borne by taxpayers.

Dutko thinks board members are qualified to name the chairman, selecting a person "with whom they can work to achieve goals and have a healthy form of government for the people." He regards Chairman Hagnauer as "a fair, courteous and prudent man — a leader who listens to his committees' input before making a final decision on a problem."

A veteran of 36 years of public service in addition to Navy service in World War II, Dutko has resided in Madison 53 years. He was a charter member of the Explorer Post 104 "committee and for seven years was volunteer chairman of the Madison cancer fund crusade as well as being active in United Way campaigns.

Dutko was a member of the Madison Police Department from 1950 to 1977 (one year as sergeant, three as lieutenant, three as captain and seven years as chief). He served as an investigator for the Madison County state's attorney, a member of the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Major Case Squad and a board member of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois. The 1945 Madison High School graduate attended Northeast Missouri State College, Belleville Area College and the police training institute at the University of Illinois. He is a member of the Nativity of Virgin Mary Eastern Orthodox Church.

Police, court news

Police continue probe of city auto burglaries

Police are continuing to investigate a series of auto burglaries occurring late Feb. 19 in West Granite City.

Eight vehicles parked in the 1800 block of Spruce Street were entered by thieves, the owners reported. Most of the break-ins were discovered about 6 a.m. Feb. 20, but two were reported earlier.

Keith Smith, 1821 Spruce St., was awakened by a noise about 11:40 p.m. Feb. 19. He looked outside and saw two men near a pickup truck belonging to a neighbor. The pair began walking north on Spruce.

Smith said he went outside and yelled at the men. The pair crossed the road and ran through yards toward Poplar Street, near West 20th Street, where he lost sight of them. Smith said he checked his own car and found the door open. The thieves apparently tried to pry open the glove compartment door, which was damaged. Nothing appeared to be missing, he said.

Neighbor, Keith Watson, 1826 Spruce St., reported a camera valued at $450 and a walking measure stick worth $50 were missing from his pickup truck. The truck was parked in front of his garage.

Two cars owned by Jim Harms, 1817 Spruce St., were entered. The glove compartments were ransacked, but nothing appeared to be missing.

Others reporting their cars were entered included: David G. Noel, 1811 Spruce St., and Mildred Martinez, 1814 Spruce St., all of whom reported the glove compartments in their cars were ransacked, but nothing was immediately determined to be missing.

Phyllis Moore, whose car was parked in the area and had $5 taken from the glove box.

NEW TROOPER

Floyd Smith has been assigned to Illinois State Police District 9 headquarters at Springfield after 20 weeks of intensive, semi-military training. He will receive 14 weeks of field training. The son of Mrs. Bonita Schultz, Granite City, he is a 1970 graduate of Granite City High School. Smith, his wife, Elizabeth, and three children, Jennifer, Jeffrey and Brian, plan to reside in the Lincoln area where he will assume duties as a patrol trooper within the district.

FEET FIRST

By Dr. Claude Hiles

When the big-toe joint is injured, the inner lining of the joint becomes irritated and inflamed. Although the pain can be quite sharp when the foot is strongly forced in either direction, discomfort is commonly felt as the foot is pushed forward in the big-toe joint. The large toe has two joints, it is the one closest to the foot that sustains an injury because this joint supports more weight than the other. The arch seems to come and go, and has a tendency to recur if the joint suffers from this condition can result from stubbing the toe, or from athletic activity with poor alignment of the legs and feet. An orthotic device to alleviate pressure on the toe joint is usually both a good treatment and preventive measure.

BIG TOE PAIN

By Dr. Claude Hiles

A bunion may form at the base of the big toe, caused by long periods of pressure from a tight-fitting shoe. When the big toe is pressed inward, overlapping the second toe, its base is then pushed beyond the normal alignment of the foot, resulting in pain and inflammation. Contact my office, located at 1930 State St. and at 2503 Chippewa, Suite 306, for professional treatment of bunions and all general foot problems. In-house surgery is performed and x-ray facilities are available. Office hours by appointment. Tel. 877-6025. BC/BS, John Hancock, Medicare, and most major insurances.

The Home Front

By ROD FLOOD

Lenders in some areas are tightening their qualifying standards, limiting housing costs to 25 percent of income, down from 33 percent a couple of years ago. That's more difficult for first-time buyers.

Before you take down that wall arrangement — for a paint job, perhaps — take a picture of it. Then picture how you'd like to see it. Sheets made into curtains look decorative — designed when you cover the curtain rod with shimmering sheeting, too, and finish curtains with a ruffled header.

When many layers of paint must be removed, use a chemical paint remover or an electric heat gun. The gun is neater and less expensive for large areas, but it must be used carefully.

Top investment in the last 15 years, says Money magazine, has been housing. In many areas, even allowing for inflation, values have increased twice as much as Standard & Poor's 500-stock index.

Slate of delegates for Bush selected

A full slate of candidates for delegate and alternate delegate positions at the 1988 Republican National Convention has been filed on behalf of Vice President George Bush in the 21st Congressional District.

The group includes Don Weber, Carpenter, candidate for state's attorney in Madison County.

Three candidates for delegate and three candidates for alternate delegate will be on the Republican primary ballot March 15. Voters also will have the opportunity to cast a vote for the presidential preference primary.

A full slate of 82 delegate candidates and 82 alternate delegate candidates has been filed in Illinois in support of Bush.

Gov. James R. Thompson, general chairman of the Bush campaign in Illinois, said the Bush slate "represents a cross-section of every element of the Republican Party in Illinois. You could not find a better sampling. They share George Bush's vision for the future of America and they are firmly committed to his nomination at the convention and his election as the next president of the United States."

The slate includes members of Congress, Illinois legislators, mayors and county officials; Republican precinct, ward, township and county workers; and a variety of rank and file Republicans.

Weber is running as a delegate for Bush and also is unopposed for the state's attorney nomination.

Two Democrats are vying in that party's primary for state's attorney: Bill Edme, an Alton attorney, and the incumbent, Dick Allen, Granite City.

Judges say Kernan doing well

By Shawn Candela

Staff affiliate

BELLEVILLE — The eight other circuit judges in the 20th Judicial Circuit, have approved Circuit Judge Stephen Kernan as chief judge.

Kernan, 40, had been serving as chief judge since the death of former Chief Judge Richard A. Hudlin IV. Hudlin died Jan. 23. He had been hospitalized Jan. 17 for a brain aneurysm.

The circuit judges unanimously voted for Kernan on Feb. 24.

"In 14 years, I've tried 112 cases and had only 15 overturned by appellate courts or the (state) Supreme Court," said Kernan, who will remain chief judge at least until December.

"That should tell you if I'm doing a good job," he said. Aside from his duties as chief judge, Kernan still is handling his regular docket of criminal cases and campaigning for election to the 5th District Appellate Court.

Thomas Miller and Gail Planitz
Planitz-Miller

2 John 1:5 "...And now I beseech thee, not as though I wrote a new commandment unto thee, but that which we had from the beginning, that we love one another."

Loving one another is not an option for Christians! It is not in our power to decide that we will love some and not others. We have a commandment to love each other and this command is much more binding on us than the ten commandments given to Moses.

God loves everybody. The Bible makes this fact so clear. He loves sinners. He died to redeem them. He showed His love on Calvary. And now says to us, "Freely you have received, freely give."

Let us be what God would have us to be. And let us start by keeping this great command of God. LOVE ONE ANOTHER.

Do it TODAY.

Perjak, Judy Whitaker, Casmer Skubish, Everett Morlen, Lloyd Bailey and Jake Varadian. Opposed were Brett Henke, Emerald Daves, Walter Milton, Jim Miller and Dan Partney. Paul Fisk was absent.

The original plan, proposed last week by 2nd Ward Alderman Schuman, called for the entire $700,000 to be drawn from MFT funds. In a debate carried over from the last meeting, the council first considered an amendment by 4th Ward Alderman Partney to allocate an additional $700,000 of MFT funds for street repairs in the various wards. Partney's amendment was voted down 12-1. Partney and Morlen supported it.

"I cannot believe the whole council wouldn't go for resurfacing Madison Avenue. Granite City is going down the tubes," 4th Ward Alderman Partney said. "We must do what is best for the city. It's time we started looking at the city as a whole."

After Worthen presented his plan, Schuman withdrew the original motion in favor of Worthen's proposal.

Partney said he doubted the proposed $400,000-per-ward allotment was enough to do more than "pave one, two, three, maybe four blocks of one street." He said it was unlikely to "do anybody any real good."

"Why should a ward that has good streets get the same amount as a ward that has no streets?" Partney asked. "I would be willing to give up my share of the $700,000 completely and vote it all to another ward if it is a ward without streets. If I can know that my ward will get the same treatment some time in the future."

"I say let's go into a ward, any ward, and make a major contribution," he said.

Seventh Ward Alderman Trivette asked Mayor Von Dee Cruise if he planned to carry out an earlier promise to veto any use of MFT funds that did not include a plan.

"The $400,000 is not a plan," Cruise said. "I'm for Madison Avenue. We need street program."

"Some wards have all concrete streets and some have no streets at all. I don't know what I can do, but if I can veto I will."

"Maybe some of you (aldermen) are qualified to decide what repairs need to be done, but I don't believe there are enough engineers sitting around the tables who can tell what to do," Cruise said.

TRACEY'S TIPS

Running a home is a costly task. However, homeowners can reduce this expense by making energy-saving choices. Heating water with gas rather than electricity is one effective option. Roughly one therm of gas equals 22 kilowatts of electricity, with both delivering 100,000 BTUs of heat. However, while one therm of gas costs approximately $1.75, 22 kilowatts cost around $1.76. In other words gas is 38% the cost of electricity. Thus, homeowners who opt for gas water heaters over electric models are making a more cost efficient choice.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED Attorney At Law

If a person is arrested for Driving Under the Influence (DUI), the arresting officer will probably request the driver to take a breathalyzer test. A refusal to submit to the test will result in the statutory summary suspension of the person's driving privileges. Furthermore, if the driver submits to the test and the alcohol concentration in his blood is .10 or greater, this will also result in a statutory summary suspension of his driving privileges.

If a person refuses a breathalyzer test and is a first time offender, he will lose his driving privileges for six months. If a person takes a breathalyzer test and has a blood alcohol concentration of .10 or more, his driving privileges will be summarily suspended for three months if he is a first time offender. Fortunately, Illinois law does provide for a Judicial Driving Permit during the period of driver's license suspension in certain circumstances.

A Judicial Driving Permit will give the driver limited driving privileges to relieve undue hardship. A Judicial Driving Permit is available only to a first time offender, and it cannot become effective prior to the 31st day of the original statutory summary suspension. In one recent case, a college student was arrested and charged with a DUI. His driving privileges were suspended for three months when he failed the breathalyzer test. Subsequent to this time he filed a petition for a Judicial Driving Permit.

He alleged it would be difficult for him to remain a full-time student and maintain his baseball and athletic schedule without driving privileges. The trial court granted the petition. The Secretary of State, however, returned the order to the issuing court, noting that Illinois law only provided for limited driving privileges to allow the person to receive emergency or medical care in connection with receiving drug treatment or medical care.

The Appellate Court reversed the finding to the trial court. The Appellate Court felt that the legislature intended for a driver to have a Judicial Driving Permit to continue employment or to travel for drug treatment or medical care. Since the trial court in this case issued the permit in order to enable the petitioner to travel to school and athletic events, the Appellate Court felt that it could not allow the order of the trial court to remain in effect.

Don't lose elected office

The street superintendent should be a "professional," say those who want to do away with an elected office in Granite City. If professionalism shown by some artificial measure is really what's desired (rather than a gossamer political vendetta), then professionalism should begin with the city's highest office—that of mayor.

The city manager form of government allows hired help, rather than a mayor, to determine how to run the business of city government. What could be more professional?

But we recommend against a hired city manager and a hired street superintendent because the city manager job, like the street superintendent job, could become political plums for those wanting to get the most out of patronage hirings.

Instead, we advocate maintaining the right of the public to choose its elected leaders. If those leaders do not perform for the public, the public will not reelect them.

Electing representatives is a right the people should not relinquish.

AIDS war taking its toll

Instead of the expected 100, Madison County marriage licenses dropped to about a dozen in the first month of the new Illinois law requiring AIDS testing.

Perhaps to avoid the cost and inconvenience of the test, many couples either delayed getting married or instead exchanged wedding vows in Missouri. Similar patterns have been reported elsewhere in the state.

Since some health authorities think the test is inappropriate for engaged couples, a strong case could be made for ending the requirement, which went into effect Jan. 1. A law that cannot be enforced usually is not a good law.

But the Illinois Department of Public Health says the screening for AIDS antibodies already has led to four persons learning they are AIDS carriers. If heeded, this knowledge can enable them to avoid infecting others with the deadly ailment that attacks an individual's immune system.

Doctors do not yet know whether everyone with antibodies will develop the disease, but years can pass between the time of infection and the time the first symptoms appear. It is during this interval that AIDS can either be curbed or spread further through the population, depending on the carrier's awareness and conduct.

Whether an infected person and his or her partner proceed with their wedding plans is up to them; only they are told the test results (of both). Statistical data provided to health officials can then help advance AIDS research without revealing the identities.

With 28,000 Americans already killed by AIDS and many times that number destined to be stricken, the cost of the testing may well be a price that prospective newlyweds ought to be willing to pay, to aid in saving at least some lives. But it remains a highly controversial law that only Louisiana, so far, has joined Illinois in enacting.

Able coroner candidates

Selection of a Democratic nominee for coroner of Madison County in the March 15 primary election may be a difficult decision for Quad City area voters.

The two candidates are the incumbent coroner, Dail M. Burke, 61, Alton, who is widely credited with operating the office efficiently, and Robert H. Thomas, 44, Granite City. His successful operation of the Thomas, Mercer and Lahey-Sedlack funeral homes here indicates he has the ability to serve effectively as coroner, an office once held by his late father.

Under a new law and a new 3rd Circuit Court policy, multiple inquests are being held one day each month at the Madison County Courthouse, Edwardsville, utilizing jurors not assigned to trial duty.

Burke, a registered nurse and licensed funeral director, is seeking a fifth consecutive four-year term. Her office is in her Alton funeral home, and her staff of deputies around the county includes a chief deputy coroner.

Thomas would eliminate the chief deputy position and would locate the office in a government building—preferably in Edwardsville if there is space there, he says. The incumbent expresses willingness to move to office facilities in Edwardsville if they are made available by the county government, but says she fears such a move might prove costly to taxpayers.

The Press-Record/Journal admires both candidates and believes either could serve well as coroner in 1988-92.

School excellence needs tax help

To the editor:

Enactment of the budget submitted Feb. 25 by the governor would deliver a crippling blow to the ambitious school improvement effort started in 1985.

While this budget appears to hold the line on education spending, it actually would cut education programs about $20 million in order to keep retirement at the current payout level.

Coming on the heels of this year's program cuts of $75 million, the effects would be severe.

The immediate impact would show up through large reductions in teachers and other staff, increased class sizes, and reduced availability of needed programs.

But every citizen would ultimately suffer if we allow the quality of our schools to diminish. The quality of our workforce and the economic well-being of our state are very much dependent on the success of our schools.

School reforms adopted in 1985 received "rave reviews" throughout the nation. While other states could not match the Illinois school-improvement blueprint, they have coupled their improvement plans with substantial investments to put them in place. We are now in serious danger of losing our competitive advantage in the nation and in the world.

Illinois ranks 41st among the states in per capita expenditures for education and this budget would move us farther down that list. The plain fact is you can't maintain a first-rate education system with a second-rate financial commitment.

We must quit talking about educational excellence in Illinois or we must back up that rhetoric with the necessary support.

Only with a tax increase can we restore our schools to the level of excellence our students need and deserve.

Papa bids farewell to job with city

To the editor:

It is with a profound sense of appreciation and thanks that I ask you to accept and approve my resignation and retirement from the Police Department of the city of Madison, effective Feb. 25.

Madison has always been my home. I have been honored to have the rare opportunity to serve and protect my friends and neighbors, the citizens of this fine community, as a police officer since 1964.

As my career in law enforcement comes to a close, it seems appropriate to extend my thanks to all those people who have been so kind and courteous to me and my family over the years. Because of their continued support and encouragement, my work as a police officer was rewarding, not tedious.

Each of the city administrations under which I have served has demonstrated a sincere dedication to the well-being of the people of Madison, and I am proud to have contributed to their work. I am also proud to have served with very conscientious, well-trained fellow officers, both past and present, who made it possible for me to perform my duties efficiently and honorably.

To all those men and women in public service I extend my gratitude. I will continue to live in the only town I know as home. I hope to continue to contribute to the quality of life here for years and years to come. Thank you all for the opportunity to serve.

Newspapers needed for recycling

To the editor:

We, the seniors, have been helped by many people who saved newspapers for our paper drive. The people of Granite City and surrounding areas have been so willing to help our cause.

The recycler (Jefferson Smurfit Corp.) has informed us to accept newspapers only. If you can please put your newspapers in paper bags, that will help us a lot. You can, however, tie your papers in bundles. Thank you and God bless you all. We are so grateful for your help.

Someday you will all be seniors and I'm sure you will be happy to have helped a good cause. Please put your newspapers in the trailer located on the Schnucks parking lot.

Calls Jack Frandsen able official

To the editor:

As active senior citizens from Olive Township, we'd like to put in a plug for a good man, Mr. Jack Frandsen.

Among elected officials, senior citizens will find no better representative.

In Olive Township, we have a new senior center, and a nutrition program that would not exist if not for his efforts. He is the man we can always turn to for help and guidance.

He would make a fine county auditor. We urge all seniors to get out and vote on March 15. Let's support this man who has always supported us.

Losing staffers tough on us all

Staff changes are expected in any business, but losing even one news staffer at a weekly newspaper is tough to take.

We've lost three since Feb. 1.

Our Granite City beat reporter, David Gonnell, took a job at another newspaper. That wasn't too hard on us because he gave notice and we quickly brought on a replacement, Mike Myers.

Myers, 32, is a former military newspaper editor. For this newspaper, he covers Granite City and its police, and provides the business news page. You'll see plenty of Myers' around town.

Because of Myers, the transition period went smoothly, but then the bottom fell out.

Our Granite City School Board reporter, William "Buster" Bagby, 25, died Feb. 17 after a brief, unexpected illness. His death shocked everyone.

In the same week, the society editor and Madison reporter, Donna Kimbro, retired after 20 years with the Press-Record.

Losing two staffers has been a bit of a strain, but we've somehow managed to stay on top of the news, though sometimes it seems hard to figure out how.

Our motto has been "The essential is done immediately; the extra takes a little longer."

Perhaps we're doing it with mirrors, and I sometimes look for them hanging around the office, but instead I always find copy desk chief Bill Winter, assistant chief Georgeann McGee, photographer Patrick Foley, general assignment reporter Valerie Evenden, and Myers. They, with the help of our dedicated typists, Connie Mushill and the Norren Mueller, have made it possible for the newspaper to come out week after week under the added pressures of being short on staff members.

Each has pitched in to do whatever was needed, whenever needed, to get the job done, but we will soon get back to performing at 100 percent efficiency because you expect it.

By this time next week, based on responses to our ads, we hope to have two new employees in the newsroom. One will provide news from all three Quad City Area school districts. The other will move into the newly created position of lifestyle editor.

In the meantime, I'll keep trying to find those mirrors.

Dave Leipziger has retired for the second time from Gilk's Department Store, it was announced last week. Leipziger, who had retired one year ago from the store, was asked to work on a limited basis by Joe Gilk, the store's president. "He asked me to come back for just one day a week, to help out, so I did," Leipziger said. He retired for the second time Feb. 25. The retiree has been the store's shoe buyer and shoe department manager. He has worked for Gilk's for 36 years. "I started working in Madison, when there was just one store," Leipziger said. He and his wife, Susan, reside in St. Louis. They have two children. He said he plans to help his wife with estate sales now that he is retired full time.

Electrolux slates grand opening

A new, authorized Electrolux Store has opened in Granite City at 1363 Niedringhaus Ave. next to the Computer Connection and two doors down from the City Hall.

The owners are Granite City residents, David and Paula Anderson.

In 1987 David sold 200 Electrolux in the Granite City area, increasing the need for an authorized Electrolux service center with a qualified repairman.

Although David Anderson had the opportunity and the offers to manage a store in different parts of the county, he wanted to stay in his home town. The door opened to start a new outlet when approval of the main office came in January.

The grand opening will be March 5 to 7. There will be many prizes, and popcorn and soda will be given away between noon and 2 p.m. and between 4:30 and 5:30 p.m. A "Luck of the Irish Sale" will be held on Electrolux canisters and upright models. "Bring your trade-ins for a green deal," David Anderson said.

The new authorized Electrolux store carries a large variety of new (a very new Hoover and Kirby are now in stock), used and reconditioned vacuums, and sells uprights, canisters and shampooers.

"This is a good contribution to the Granite City area and is a quality store for your vacuum cleaning needs," he said.

Spring makeup line introduced

In colors reminiscent of Impressionist paintings, Merle Norman Cosmetics has introduced the Watercolor Spring '88 Color Collection, an array of new fashion-forward shades for the eyes, cheeks, lips and nails.

"This spring we'll see fashions in colors that are natural, elemental - reminders of the great landscape works by Monet and Cezanne," said Linda Roder, owner of the Merle Norman Studio in Granite City.

"Bright tones are played against darks. Pastels are everywhere. Fabrics are light as air, and skirts and shorts are ultra-feminine and above the knee. Our new Watercolor Collection is all you'll need to carry the new looks off with confidence and style."

The new line includes two color palettes - the Warm Collection and the Cool Collection.

Ask Mr. Meltzer

By Bernard Meltzer

Rotted tree collapses; owner nets 'no money'

Dear Mr. Meltzer: When I moved in to my home five years ago, a tree on the property was rotten and ready to fall. Last month it did fall and caused $4,000 damage to my house. The insurance company was here today, looking things over and said, "No money. We are not liable." My reply was, "I've been paying high premiums on a homeowner's policy." The adjuster looked at me and said, "No money. Why no money?"

Answer: The reason why you cannot collect any money is the manner in which the damage occurred. The tree was in bad condition for many years and finally collapsed of its own weight. On the other hand, if the tree had been prevented by lightning, storm, or an "act of God" then you would have been eligible to collect.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I thought that when a person is 65 years old or over, he has a one-time capital gains exemption of $125,000. I am 60. When I sold my property two years ago, I took the $125,000 capital gains exemption.

My accountant agreed I was right. However, I just got a letter from the Internal Revenue Service saying I owe them money because it was not my principal residence and I owned the property only two years. What now?

Answer: The first thing necessary is to send your accountant back to school on tax law, course in taxation. To qualify for the one-time capital gains exemption, not only must you be 55 years old or over, but you must have owned the property for at least one year and lived in it as a principal residence for at least three of the past five years that you have owned it.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: My property is located on a private road that has eight other properties. I admit the road is not in the best of condition but it is very passable. Eight of the property owners want to install new paving.

I say the paving is satisfactory and added, "Don't bother me. My eight neighbors have agreed to go ahead with the paving. Am I bothered?"

Answer: They sure can. Your deed provides for the proportionate maintenance costs or construction costs as necessary.

If you want to spend the money, you can get an expert to say that the road is as good as it is and go to court; that's if you can find an expert.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I'm a 42-year-old lady and have been divorced twice. Several months ago I met my "dream man" and asked him to move in with me.

He accepted but the landlord has not accepted the situation. He has given me a month to get married or he said he will evict us. Can he?

Answer: If this were the year 1937 instead of 1987, I would say you could not evict him. The action then would be viewed as counter to the moral turpitude clauses in the lease.

However, in 1987, I doubt if he can get a judge to order eviction because an unmarried couple occupies an apartment.

Consumer tips

Envelope stuffing may not pan out

By Nell F. Hartigan
Illinois attorney general

In looking for a way to supplement my income, I came across an ad for getting paid for stuffing envelopes. Do you think this opportunity is legitimate?

A. Some time ago the Council of Better Business Bureaus investigated over 50 work-at-home promotions.

The investigation revealed that people, as yourself, who wanted to supplement their income by investing in work-at-home opportunities often were losing their money to unscrupulous promoters using misleading advertising claims.

The advertisements promising hundreds of dollars for a few hours' work were simply lures by the advertisers to sell information on how to set up your own business or conduct the same scheme as the advertisers. No actual employment existed.

Instead, prospective workers would have to first pay for details purporting to show how to make the claimed income, and then invest more money in ads, envelopes, postage and other items. It would take an exceptional effort for a person who responds to the advertisement to make a profit.

This would also require marketing expertise that the average person does not possess. According to the U.S. Postal Service, most businesses with mass mailings use highly mechanized and sophisticated techniques and equipment which ultimately eliminate any profit potential for people doing this in their home. Both the attorney general and the Postal Service know of no work-at-home promotion that has ever produced an income as alleged.

You should always be skeptical of any offer which promises or guarantees substantial income from work-at-home programs. Remember, if a deal sounds too good to be true, it probably is.

If you choose to participate in the work-at-home scheme, you could be perpetrating a fraud by selling the program to others, and risk being investigated with possible prosecution.

If you have any further questions, contact your local Illinois attorney general's office.

Q. I spent thousands of dollars to purchase a satellite dish because I thought it would be able to receive pay TV programming without paying for it. Now the more programs are scrambled. How can I legally receive scrambled satellite programming?

A. This particular point seems to be a major complaint of various satellite dish owners not only throughout Illinois but in other States. The major agency with ultimate jurisdiction over this matter is the Federal Communications Commission in Washington.

The commission is well aware of the delicate balance which must be maintained between the ownership rights of program suppliers and the interest of viewers in the availability of diverse programming. It has laws which provide rights to both parties.

In answer to your question, you need a descrambling device, or decoder, which may be purchased or possibly leased from the descrambler manufacturer, the local franchise cable operator, or your local satellite dish dealer. You must contact the program supplier or its authorized representative in order to sign up for the service.

Q. What is the difference between a guarantee and a warranty?

A. Occasionally, our office has received questions inquiring as to the difference between a "guarantee" and a "warranty."

A popular misconception holds that the protection available to consumers under a guarantee is greater than that under a warranty. It is important to understand that the terms "guarantee" and "warranty" are synonymous.

Both the warranty coverage and your rights in problems should arise under the warranty (or guarantee) depend on the expressed or implied terms. Thus, the fact that you purchase a product "guaranteed" in some respects does not necessarily imply that you have a legal right to receive a refund.

Guarantees, or warranties, often provide for the replacement of a defective product. Terms such as "money back guarantee" indicate that the purchaser may receive a refund if the conditions of the guarantee are met (that is, returned within the specified time and the purchaser is not satisfied, etc.).

Finally, the issue has recently become confused by the application of the term "warranty" to contracts which are not warranties at all. When one purchases an extended warranty, one is actually purchasing a service contract.

Remember, the coverage available under a service contract is specifically limited to those items mentioned and does not include any of the implied coverage which is sometimes available in warranties.

Q. Is it legal for programmers and cable companies to scramble their signals?

A. According to the Federal Communications Commission, the scrambling of satellite television programming is legal. There are federal laws which protect the privacy of pay TV services such as cable TV, multipoint distribution service (MDS), subscription TV, and direct broadcast satellite (DBS) service.

Under Section 705 of the Communications Act, programmers retain a proprietary interest in the signals they send by pay television and reception will not be permitted unless a marketing system has been established to authorize private viewers to receive the transmission.

This means that if a program supplier, such as Home Box Office (HBO), scrambles its programs or sets up a marketing system to enable satellite antennas to receive its transmissions for a fee, the interception of HBO's signal is otherwise prohibited. This protects the viewer's right to receive programming while protecting the rights of the program owners.

Joe Gilk congratulates Dave Leipziger.

State to spruce up River Road bike trail

SPRINGFIELD — The Vandalia Bike Trail along the Great River Road from Alton to Grafton will be "rehabilitated" next fall, an Illinois Department of Transportation official said.

IDOT District 8 Engineer Dale Klohr pledged the rehabilitation work in a letter to Sen. Sam Vandalabene, D-Edwardsville, for whom the bikeway is named. Vandalabene has been championing state funding for bikeways for more than 14 years.

"A member of my staff has completed a preliminary study," Klohr said. "The results indicate the need for an improvement project that would rehabilitate the surface and restore appropriate bikeway markings."

"Recognizing the priority of this type of project, I have advised my staff to begin the necessary design process to develop a rehabilitation project. Due to funding consideration, this work will not be completed until the fall of 1988.

"In the interim our maintenance forces will be addressing the necessary isolated surface repairs to minimize the rough surface along the entire bikeway."

In an interview, Klohr said new "shoulders" are planned for the bikeway. He said the design process would determine whether the original aggregate type shoulders would be restored or whether more durable — and expensive — bituminous and concrete shoulders would be constructed.

He said planners would have to decide "what to do with the rusty old guard rail" along a portion of the bikeway.

Klohr has included the bikeway work in District 8's program for the fiscal year, starting July 1.

Primary election promises to be exciting

Regional Roundup

By Bill Winter

"The 1988 primaries promise to be exciting harbingers of the new political landscape."

"Not only for the fall presidential election but for all those elections remaining until the end of the century."

Exciting? Maybe not for everyone. But elections are exciting to me and to many millions, including the man just quoted, John McLaughlin, who is famous not just because his wife is U.S. secretary of Labor.

McLaughlin is the host of that 11:30 a.m. Sunday political talk show on TV Channel 9. You know, the one where everybody talks at the same time, often shouting to get a word in edgewise.

The host of the "McLaughlin Group" program is convinced 1988 will be a watershed year, not a h-hum election. He says it will be the first time in more than 50 years that the two political parties have met on such equal terms.

Since the start of the 1930s Depression, Democrats have outnumbered Republicans in Metro East and most of the country. But somewhat of a balance is developing nationally, according to McLaughlin, who cites increasing political competitiveness in Southern states.

POLITICS CAN GET into one's blood, and not just, as the late President Lyndon Johnson put it, when you can "smell the bacon cooking."

There are candidates who never get any bacon but always try one more time, perennially circulating nominating petitions to qualify to appear on the ballot.

And then there are politicians like U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon (D-Ill.), who has always smelled victory. He has never been out of office since winning citywide balloting in his home town of Belleville at the age of 21.

DIXON, 60, first served as police magistrate and then advanced to assistant state's attorney at 22 and the Illinois House of Representatives at the ripe old age of 23.

He reached the Illinois Senate at the age of 35, became state treasurer at 43 (in 1970), was elected Illinois secretary of state at 49 and moved at the age of 53 to the U.S. Senate, where he is in his second six-year term.

While not creating as many headlines as the other U.S. senator from Illinois (Paul Simon), Dixon has always been a spectacular vote-getter. To put it mildly, Dixon isn't someone you would want to run against if you were seeking an elective office.

SIMON, running for the Democratic presidential nomination this year, has been this state's junior senator since 1984.

Now 59, he became a state representative at the age of 25 while editor-publisher of a 1,000-circulation newspaper in Madison County, the Troy Tribune.

Simon represented the Venice-Madison-Granite City-Troy area in the Illinois legislature from 1964 until 1968, having been elected as our state senator when he was 33.

At 39, he was elected as Illinois' lieutenant governor. Denied the governor nomination in the primary election when he was 43 years old, Simon became a university professor and then was elected to Congress at 45 and the Senate at 55.

AS JUDY FAHNS of the Press-Record/Journal's Washington bureau reported after Feb. 23 South Dakota primary and Minnesota caucuses, Simon decided to "sidestep" the Super Tuesday voting in 20 states March 8 while remaining active in his home state's March 15 primary.

He said he was encouraged by an infusion of cash into his campaign late last week, but still lacked enough money to campaign through the South.

He did compete in a debate at Atlanta several days ago, however.

Still one of the top three candidates in number of convention delegates won, Simon accurately said it is unlikely any of his rivals will enter the July 15 Atlanta convention, with enough votes to assure nomination.

ABOUT 40 PERCENT of the 3,517 pledged delegates will have been decided by next Tuesday night.

The outcome of Simon's new strategy apparently will depend on how many delegates he can garner in big-population states — Illinois, New York (April 19), Pennsylvania (April 26), Ohio (May 3) and California (June 7). Those states combined will choose 1,063 delegates.

Simon remains optimistic, saying, "It's on to Atlanta."

Doubters say voters mainly climb onto the fastest-moving bandwagons; they may respond only to the candidates who are active in every state.

AROUND THE REGION:

—The D'Adrian Convalescent Center, Godfrey, will lose its Medicare payments effective March 15 due to a federal report citing the center for problems ranging from poor medical supervision to dirty bathrooms.

—Area schools may get a break, even though the proposed new Illinois budget holds the line on overall education spending. The guaranteed support level per pupil in general state aid may increase from $2,057 this year to $2,112 because of a state-wide drop in students.

—An Edwardsville boy, 17, and a Worden boy, 16, were charged Feb. 25 with first-degree murder, home invasion and armed violence in the stabbing death of an Edwardsville High School honor student, Christopher McDonald, 18.

—An Alton man, 51, with four drunken driving convictions was sentenced Feb. 26 to five years in prison for reckless homicide in the Sept. 26 death of an Alton boy, seven years old. The man's car hit the rear of another auto, forcing the second vehicle onto a sidewalk where the boy was riding a bicycle.

you can BANK on it!

BART SOLOIN

Q: The bank sends a statement to the Internal Revenue Service reporting all the interest or dividends I've received from my accounts. My question is, what does the Internal Revenue Service do with this information?

A: The Internal Revenue Service does receive the same dividend information which you receive on 1099 forms. The IRS feeds this information into its computers. This stored information is then matched with the information submitted by taxpayers when they file their individual tax returns. When the computer catches a "mis-match" — a situation where what the bank reported and what the taxpayer said he received don't exactly correspond, the computer "kicks" the return out. The taxpayer is then sent a notice by the IRS, asking them to explain the difference in reporting or to pay the additional tax.

In such an event, it always pays to play fair with the Internal Revenue Service, and to report all dividend income. If, of course, you believe there is an error on the statement you receive from your bank, you should contact your banker immediately.

Church Women United to fight poverty

"Assignment: Poverty of Women and Children" was undertaken by Church Women United at the CWU spring forum held in mid-February at Mt. Nebo Baptist Church in Madison. It is the new imperative of Church Women United nationwide and will be a concentrated program for the next five years.

Doris Edwards and Joyce Schrader, who recently attended an intensive workshop at Des Plaines, Ill., on this subject, conducted the forum, with 40 women in attendance.

There have been attempts during the past 20 years to redress social and economic inequities suffered by women; yet, for all the gains in women's rights, there is still not only a great number of poor women in the United States and throughout the world, but there are more poor women than ever, and they are getting poorer, the speakers said. Two of every three poor adults in the United States are women.

The increase is so great that by the end of the century, the poverty population will be composed primarily of women and children, it was emphasized.

The purpose of the forum was to discuss how Church Women United can make a difference in this problem. They are already involved in a number of programs to help women and children, including:

The layette program in which layettes are distributed to needy mothers for their newborn babies; Phoenix Crisis Center, which provides a haven for abused women and their families;

Project Help, which assists unemployed workers and their families in this area; the Literacy Program, to teach adults to read; and service to senior citizens at local nursing homes.

Pressure should be put on Congress to raise the minimum wage so that unskilled women can earn a decent living, the gathering was told.

More than half the work done worldwide is performed by women, who receive only one-tenth the pay of men worldwide and own one-hundredth of the property, the speakers said.

Federally financed day care centers, adequate housing and better-kept rental properties were also discussed as goals. A neighborhood watch program for those experiencing old age, sickness or poverty was suggested.

Other participants in the forum were Dorothy Luckert, who led the group in theological reflections concerning the imperative; Lena Seitzer, immediate past president, who read Scripture; Ethel Palm, soloist; and Dorothy Kinney, president of the Quad-City Unit of Church Women United.

Guests present from the Collinsville Unit of CWU were Ann Bertol, St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church; Margaret Dunson, St. Stephen Catholic Church, Caseyville; Sherrie F. Johnson, Christ Episcopal Church, Collinsville; and Kathryn Bennett, First United Methodist Church, Collinsville.

The host church provided the setting for a "finger food" luncheon.

Ladies' Coterie nominates youth for recognition

The Ladies' Coterie met at the First Presbyterian Church on Feb. 18, with Bess Henley as hostess.

President Kathleen Offt called the meeting to order. The Club Collect was led by Harriet Horn. "The Lord's Prayer" was led by Ethel Beeler.

Birthday honors were accorded Joyce Albers, Irene Haug and Virginia John.

The 22nd District IFWC will hold its spring convention at St. Jerome's Catholic Hall, 807 S. Main St., Troy, at 9:30 a.m. March 22.

The Granite City Ambassadors will hold a Granite Fest, where awards will be given to outstanding youth of the community. Mary McIlvoy is the nominee of the Ladies' Coterie.

The By-laws Committee met with Offt on Feb. 24.

Donna Kagy was in charge of the program. Millie Meek read a poem. Kagy gave a talk on "Thoughts to Help You Beat Those February Blues."

Others present were: Mary Bibbey, Ida Cariss, Bernadine Cooley, Viola Edwards, Anka Fiehoff, Arline Fox, Ruth Moore, Gladys Pape, Helen Stoeber, Elizabeth Briggs and Helen Friedman.

Calvary Baptist to hear speaker

The Rev. John L. Hessel, vice president of Church Capital Funding, Stewardship Commission of The Southern Baptist Commission, and a resident of Arnold, will be the guest speaker at Calvary Baptist Church, 3900 Washington Ave., for morning and evening services Sunday, March 6, and again for both services Sunday, March 13.

The chairman of deacons, Earl Phelps, invites the public to attend the morning services at 10:40 and the evening services at 7.

Hessel has served as pastor in churches in Oklahoma, Texas and Illinois, prior to joining the staff of the Stewardship Commission. He presently works with churches in Together We Build programs.

He served on the Executive Board, Illinois Baptist State

John Hessel

Association, and Board of Directors, Home Mission Board, SBC. He taught at Boyce Bible School, Seminary Extension, SBC, and Hannibal LaGrange College, Hannibal, Mo.

Sacred Heart honors Crawshaw

Margaret Crawshaw was honored at the Feb. 15 meeting of the Crusaders for her years of service to Sacred Heart Church as organist and other duties she has performed for the church.

She was presented a centerpiece by Sister Margaret Mary, pastoral minister of Sacred Heart.

Plans were completed for a trip to several St. Louis churches to be taken Feb. 24. The group planned to visit St. Joseph, St. Raymond's and the new cathedral. Next month's meeting on March 21 will be postponed.

Gospel choirs to appear in Venice

The New Salem Missionary Baptist Church Gospel Chorus will hold a musical program featuring the Crawford Singers; The Divine Son's Praise, Alto; and New Salem Senior Choir at 5 p.m. Sunday, March 13, at the church, 1349 Klein Ave., Venice.

The Rev. Charles Fields will give a Bible deliverance.

New Salem will sponsor a trip luck dinner.

Helen Todoroff, representative of Sacred Heart Church to Church Women United, spoke about projects sponsored by the group.

Paper goods and canned goods were collected for Phoenix Crisis Center, a home for abused women and children, one of the projects supported by Church Women United.

Todoroff invited members to attend CWU board meetings, forums and celebrations during the coming year.

Lydia Circle discusses business

The Lydia Circle of Nameoki United Methodist Church held its February meeting in the home of Marie Long.

Dorothy Wallace gave the opening prayer.

After refreshments, Mary Bailey, president, opened the business meeting. After the secretary and treasurer's reports were given, a donation was sought for cards and stamps.

A Colonade's Nursing Home birthday party was held Feb. 19. Church Women United will hold its "Music, Music Program," on April 24.

On April 23, the E.M.P. Circle of Nameoki United Methodist Church will hold a rummage sale. Donations are being sought.

Marie Long read the poem, "Walk a Little Plainer, Daddy!"

Members said "The Lord's Prayer" in unison.

Others attending were: Marie Isenbarg, Ann Haley, Bess Rucker, Dorothy Wallace, Dorothy Sinnett and Wilma Tracy, prospective member. Guests attending were Mary Benson, Ruby Gunderson and Helen Bischoff.

Good Shepherd to break ground

Good Shepherd United Methodist Church, 3025 National Ave., will hold ground-breaking ceremonies at 2 p.m. Sunday, March 6, in preparation for an addition.

Lent an excellent time to clean up spiritual act

By John Stahlman

The garage is not as clean as it was. The yard is strewn with sticks from nature's winter pruning. And I have a hunch that if I looked, I could find some dust under the bed, some clutter in the closets and some clutter under the refrigerator.

It won't be long until spring cleaning time.

What spring cleaning does for where we live, Lent does for how we live.

Maybe worship does not lift the spirit to the heights of Christmas or Easter celebrations. Maybe our praying lacks the needed fervor. Perhaps generosity has slackened. Perhaps our Bible reading schedule has not been kept and achievement has not kept up with intentions.

It won't be long until the Lenten season will be over. Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent, fell on Feb. 17 this year.

As spring cleaning rids a home of unwanted clutter and accumulated cobwebs and dust, Lenten exercises help clean up our lives.

Plato was right. "The life which is unexamined is not worth living." But such self-examination can be as hard and unpleasant as spring cleaning. It sometimes exposes the gaps between our ideals and our practices and often stirs up feelings of regret and shame. At the same time, such work has its rewards. It encourages and strengthens to clean up our act, set our resolve, take charge of our lives and change what we will.

During self-examination, when we see the distance between our lofty intentions and our lowly achievements, too often we choose the natural, but foolish course of correction. We try to restore balance by eliminating faults and by renewing our efforts of self-denial. Sometimes we are successful—partially.

Perhaps a better way is to ignore self-denial as nourishment of the spiritual life. Forget about purging your character of all that is wrong. If you are going to give up something for Lent, give up the illusion that you can give up all your bad habits and sins.

The road to a better life, the way of God, and the path of saints are not defined by what is eliminated, but by what is added. Improvement comes most certainly by addition rather than elimination. Growth comes faster by adding ingredients, not by reducing threats. Battles are won and touchdowns are scored most often by an offense that wants more rather than a defense that seeks to protect what is possessed.

What can we do during the season of Lent that will nourish our spiritual life and help us be the person we want to be? There are several, of course.

First, I have found the discipline of reading has added more good to my life than anything with the exception of personal relationships. Reading saves me from boredom and the limits of my own experience. When my spirit wallowed in grief following my parents' death, C.S. Lewis' book, "A Grief Observed," pointed me to a place beyond grief.

When my prayers are just words, I read the prayers of Dr. Samuel Johnson and Lancelotti Andrews and a praying fire is rekindled in me. For every virtue I seek, temptation I fear, habit I want to break, or task I hate to do, I have found help from God in books.

Which books are best? I don't know. But I know that some have remained popular long after their original publication. Those old books that have been read by many generations have never disappointed me. Many recently published books have. From your pastor or priest, ask for the title of a book that was published at least 100 years ago that might help you in your pilgrimage of faith.

Books that have earned lasting popularity are ones that usher all our opinions to the altar for God. For Lent read at least one.

Sammy Davis Jr. to host telethon

One of the most impressive cast of stars to appear on the same stage in St. Louis will join Sammy Davis Jr. on the Sammy Davis Jr. Variety Telethon, which begins at 10:30 p.m. Saturday, March 3, on KMOV, Channel 4, and concludes at 5:30 a.m. Sunday, March 6.

The telecast will originate from the St. Louis Ballroom of the Adams Mark Hotel, St. Louis, and will be aired by Channel 4 for the first time in the history of the only telethon produced in its entirety in St. Louis.

In addition to Davis, the live broadcast will feature appearances by Bob Hope and Jerry Lewis.

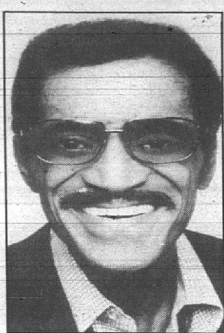

The list of stars includes TV-film star Angie Dickinson, Las Vegas headliner Lola Falana, "Dynasty" star John Forsythe, comedian Arte Johnson, singer-actor TV star Robert Guillaume, international singing star Jocelyn Jovea, talk show host Sally Jessy Raphael, Jill Whelan of "Love Boat" and the Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders.

Davis provided a dramatic moment during the telethon last year when he personally donated the amount needed to boost total contributions past the $2 million mark.

Variety Club President Zane E. Barnes said that the record total in 1987 represents a special challenge for this year's effort.

"As impressive as last year was, we want to exceed that total this year to enable us to help more children than ever before," Barnes said.

The St. Louis Variety Club

provided funding for 140 area children's agencies and spent more than $150,000 on individual children in 1987, Barnes said.

The move to Channel 4 means even more money will be available to help area children, according to Telethon Chairman John H. Londoff.

Allen Cohen, vice president and general manager of Channel 4, said the station is paying all production costs for the telethon in addition to donating 19 hours of commercial time. The station is also paying for all the technical services associated with the broadcast.

"Thanks to the generosity of Allan Cohen and Channel 4, we will be able to provide more help for St. Louis children and that's what this is all about," Londoff said.

Davis is making his fifth appearance on the Telethon, which was named in his honor last year.

Hope is coming to St. Louis to join Davis and to appear at the "Dinner of the Stars" and telethon under the auspices of Southwestern Bell Silver Pages.

Lewis and Davis has appeared as a team in Las Vegas and Atlantic City and have been friends for many years.

The 1988 Telethon is a return engagement for Dickinson, Falana, Forsythe, Raphael and the Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders. Robert Guillaume has also appeared in the past.

Jovea and Johnson are making their first appearance on the Telethon, which will also feature local professional entertainers as well as new faces chosen through special auditions held by the Variety Club and The Muny.

Bob Wynn, a former St. Louisan who is a television producer-director, will return as executive producer of his 12th Variety Telethon. Cliff St. James is telethon producer.

For reservations for the "Dinner with the Stars," which precedes the Telethon, call the St. Louis Variety Club office, 821-8184.

Chilling vampires ride motorcycles

By Nick and Eileen Pacino Staff affiliates

Unlike his kind in the old country, a vampire from Los Angeles is much more "with it" — sporting designer sunglasses to shade himself from moonshine, a top-of-the-line motorcycle instead of a horse-drawn hearse and leather and jean jackets instead of black capes.

All these modern trappings makes the life of a bloodsucker kind of attractive, and that is how impressionable teen Michael Emerson (played by Jason Patric) sees some wild-manned men-of-the-night in the new release, "The Lost Boys" (1987).

This "bad" band includes leader David (Kiefer Sutherland), Paul (Brooke McCarter), Dwayne (Billy Wirth), Marko (Alexander Winter) and limpid beauty, Star (Jamie Gertz). Taking advantage of Emerson's foolish admiration, the pack soon have their fangs ... er, hooks in him and it is up to kid brother Sam (Corey Haim) and friends the Frog brothers, to break the evil stranglehold.

Not too much help from the home front can be expected as spacey Mom (Dianne Wiest) and playful Gramps (Bernard Hughes) just look worried and hope it is just a phase Emerson will grow out of. "The Lost Boys" chilling atmosphere, novel and completely convincing new variation on the living-dead theme make this fascinating viewing. Warner Home Video.

rated R for violence, sexual situations and language, color, 88 mins., VHS/Beta, stereo, closed captioned. Coyote, "Outrageous Fortune" is making a name for himself playing sensual heels, and although he is not quite so despicable in "A Man in Love," he does burn up the screen in this romance directed by Diane Kurys.

Coyote plays Steve Elliott, an American actor in Rome making a film while his wife, Susan (Jamie Lee Curtis), an ex-actress, stays home with their son. Elliott and leading lady Jane (Greta Scacchi), who are cast as romantic protagonists in a film about an Italian writer, soon become passionately involved off-screen as well.

Although the examination of actors in love is not new, "The French Lieutenant's Woman" contained a similar structure of film-within-a-film and adulterous actor-lovers. "A Man in Love" still is a superior production with wonderful Italian locations and electrifying love scenes. Nelson Entertainment, rated R for nudity, sexual situations, color.

110 mins., VHS/Beta, stereo. "More selections from the Shirley Temple Collection, an extensive library of Shirley Temple films, have been released. Some of the mop-top's most famous works are represented in the collection: "Little Miss Broadway" (1938) with Jimmy Durante; "Stowaway" (1936) with Alice Faye and Robert Young; "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" (1938), which includes the famous song "On the Good Ship Lollipop."

East Side party

Late mistakes prevent Warrior comeback vs. Flyers

By Gary King
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Talk to Warrior basketball coach Don Deterding about happy endings. After Tuesday, he's somewhat of a resident expert on the subject. The final chapter of Granite City's 4-21 basketball season was written with the Warriors' 71-45 loss to East St. Louis in the first round of the Granite City Regional.

The Flyers (9-17) move on to take on the defending state champion East St. Louis Lincoln Tigers in Friday's championship game at Memorial Gymnasium. Tipoff is 7:30 p.m. Lincoln (20-4) ripped Cahokia (3-20) 90-46 in Tuesday's first game.

Edmund Mosby led the Flyers with 20 points.

The message wrapped in the final outcome was clear: Good bye, and good riddance.

"You don't want to see any basketball season end, even as bad as this one has been," Deterding said. "But I think we're all breathing a sigh of relief right now."

The Omega to this nightmarish Warrior plot read a lot like the Alpha: the team stayed neck-and-neck with the Flyers for 31 minutes, only to pull a self-destruction act in the final 60 seconds.

East St. Louis saw its lead trimmed to 66-55 when Shawn Tripp buried a short jumper with a minute left on the clock. But a pair of Warrior turnovers allowed the Flyers to sink five free throws in the game's waning seconds.

To Deterding, the whole turn of events had all the surprise of a sunset.

"We have a chance to do something, and we mess up two or three times in the last one or two minutes," Deterding said. "I wish I had a dime for every time that's happened to us this year."

From Granite City's perspective, the odds could've been better. The Warriors were forced to make due against the Flyers without leading scorer and rebounder Kevin Sanders, who underwent knee surgery Tuesday morning for an injury suffered in Friday's overtime loss at Alton.

The Warriors were also victimized by what Deterding referred to as a case of general sluggishness.

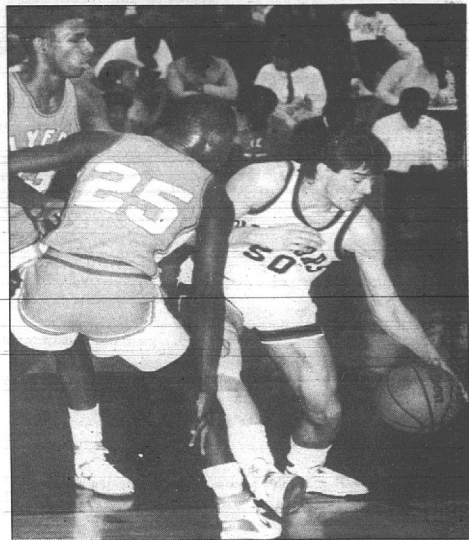

"We just didn't seem real sharp tonight," he said. "We've passed better, we've played defense better and we've reacted better than we did tonight. And we sure did miss Kevin Sanders' rebounding. I'm really sorry Kevin had to miss his last game like this."

But in Sanders' absence, Tripp provided Warrior fans what Deterding hopes is a glimpse of things to come.

Tripp, a junior forward/center, pounded the Flyers for 16 points and 13 rebounds despite the fact that he didn't score until 2:48 remained in the third quarter.

Tripp was joined in double figures by Matt Cooke, who drilled

Comanche slowdown game fails; Tigers roll, 90-46

By Carl Jacobs
Staff writer

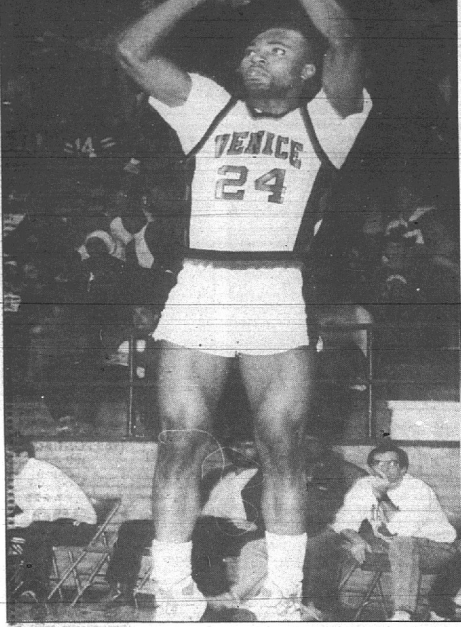

GRANITE CITY — Cahokia's chances of upsetting East St. Louis Lincoln were balanced somewhere between slim and none.

Slim if they held the ball, looked for the perfect shot and waited for the perfect moment to launch. None if they started racing up and down the floor with the Tigers, the No. 3 team in the state.

At the 5:23 mark of the second quarter, the Comanches tried to start running with the defending state champs and found out how fast Lincoln could move, how high they could jump and how many different ways they could score.

Thus their chances of knocking off the Tigers tumbled to none and Lincoln walked — or ran — away with a 90-46 victory in the first semifinal of the Granite City Regional.

With the win, the Tigers (20-4) advanced to face East St. Louis

Devils are dethroned

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

VANDALIA — Sometimes it takes the tough times to realize how sweet the good times really were.

There are probably some Venice Red Devil fans who did not fully realize what an accomplishment last year's state championship was until Wednesday night. For it was then that the Devils' hopes of repeating as state champions were swept away in a tense 61-59 loss to Trenton Westlin in the Vandalia Sectional semifinals.

Westlin (19-9) moves on to play St. Elmo (25-2) in the sectional title game tomorrow at 7:30 p.m.

For the heartbroken Red Devils, they can at least say they went down with all guns blazing. They had three shots at the basket in the last eight seconds — two by Dale Turner and a final one by Darryl Jackson — but they couldn't find the hole. Westlin players and fans stormed the floor in joy — just as Venice supporters did in Champaign last March.

"We had a good season, but we missed too many layups tonight," said Devil coach Clinton Harris, who finished his fifth season at Venice with a 29-6 record as the Devils couldn't quite rally from a 13-point deficit in the last five minutes. "Westlin has a young team, but they're good and they were hot tonight."

The Warriors (19-9) were blazing hot in the first quarter as they made 11 of 13 shots to take a 24-17 lead. Paul Lusk Jr. (18 points) had a three-pointer and Brent Brede (17 points) answered Erwin Claggett's three-pointer with a desperation layup that closed the gap to 38-34 with 2:35 left.

Dale Turner's three-pointer made it 56-50 with 3:16 left and the Warriors continued to help by struggling at the free-throw line. They made only 8 of 19 from the line, and Lionel Wiley's jump shot closed the gap to 58-54 with 2:35 left.

But Turner, Wiley and Briggs all missed the next time down. Brede and Derek Brandmeyer both made one of two free throws, but the young Claggett buried a three-pointer and Turner got a steal and a layup with VENICE Jackson 12, Turner 10 (2 3-pointers), Wiley 12, Claggett 8 (2 3-pointers), King 7, Briggs 6, Harris 2, PG 7 (4 3-pointers), FT 11, FT 11.

WESTLIN Lusk 18 (11 3-pointers), Brede 17 (11 3-pointers), Jeffries 13, Macke 8, Brink 5 (1 3-point), D. Brandmeyer 1, FG 25 (5 3-pointers), FT 8, FT 7.

42 seconds left to trim Westlin's margin to 60-59.

Lusk was fouled but could only make one of two free throws with 34 seconds left. Jackson missed with 19 seconds left, but recovered the ball in a scramble and Turner called timeout with 14 seconds left. He then missed a jumper and a rebound before Jackson's final try hit the bottom of the rim.

"We were going to Dale, then Darryl and then Claggett," Harris said of the final play. And we were going to try and tie it. We weren't looking for a three-pointer."

On the other side, Warrior coach Paul Lusk Sr. was basking in the moment.

"It was a heckuva defensive effort," he said. "We stopped Turner and Briggs (six points), which is what we wanted to do. We knew Jackson would get his points."

"But I don't like what happened at the end. We wasted a good 13-point lead. But I knew it would happen. We weren't playing a normal team. Venice is tremendous and they are quick."

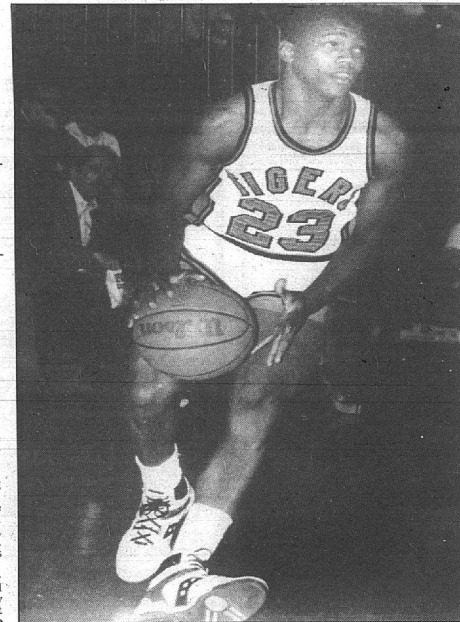

It was the hot first half, during which 6-8 center Lowell Jeffries scored all 12 of his points, that carried the Warriors to the victory. A team boasting of six sophomores and a freshman among its top ten players acted its age at times in the second half as Venice almost pulled off a big comeback.

"We're a young team and we didn't take care of the ball," Lusk said. "We have been a good free-throw shooting team. My boy had been shooting around 80 percent. I don't know what happened there."

But they had just enough to hang on.

"Aw, I was getting bored with that 13-point lead," Lusk said with a nervous laugh.

"We were sluggish in the first half," Harris said. "But they went into a stall when their big man (Jeffries) got in foul trouble. We played much better in the second half, but we still took some bad shots. They played a man-to-man, which they didn't the last time (a 74-65 Venice win at BAC on Jan. 16). We were lucky to be as close as we were at halftime after they shot 72 percent in the first half."

LAWRENCE BRADFORD had 11 points and seven assists in Lincoln's win over Cahokia.

Francis Vivod's name left off original GC Hall of Fame list

By Al Barnes
Correspondent

I am red-faced and very sorry about it all.

Last week I wrote an article listing the second class of nominees to be inducted into the Granite City Sports Hall of Fame. Left out of the story was one of the greatest women fast-pitch softball players to ever play that exciting game. Francis Konkovich Vivod was an artist at shortstop who could also hit above average.

Vivod made her debut with the big girls by playing in the first game ever under the lights at Wilson Park in the 1930's. As the nation was slowly battling its way out of the Depression, softball saved the nation's sanity. It was the only game in town, the only place to go and be seen.

It wasn't unusual for folks from Madison and Venice to walk up to Granite City to see the men's and women's games under the lights.

The Granite City Park District was one of the first in the St. Louis area to install electric lights and make the games available for the public, which had very little money for other amusement. During the games, a hat was passed around to pick up enough money to pay for the umpires and other incidental expenses.

Vivod, along with other nominees and two famous teams, will be inducted into Granite City's Sports Hall of Fame on May 6 at St. Gregory's Hall on Pontoon Road.

Tickets for the dinner will go on sale this week. They are $15 per person and $25 for two. Most of the more than 800 people at last year's dinner were seated at tables for eight costing $100. Tickets can be purchased by calling 458-0453.

Henson to coach in all-star tourney

Warrior hockey coach Garry Henson will be a coach for a team of St. Louis area high school players at a national tournament in Chicago March 29-April 3.

Joe Struckman of Lafayette (Mo.) will be the head coach for the team in one of the country's premier showcases for high school hockey talent. More than 150 college scouts usually attend the tournament.

Tommy Brown and Todd Richey of the Warriors are going through tryouts to make the final 20-man roster for the St. Louis team. More than 60 players from the area were recommended by their coaches and are competing in tryouts now.

Brown had 23 goals and 37 assists this season while Richey was a solid defenseman who added four goals and 16 assists. Henson led the Warriors to a North Division championship in the Mid-States Club Hockey Association and a berth in the

Collins, Stars making strides; look to future

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

Another season is over. Another first-round defeat for the Granite City Campus Stars.

Although Terry Collins' team didn't go nearly as far in the post-season tournament as it would have liked, there was progress this year. The team was up and down, but the Stars finished with a best-ever record of 19-15.

Before Saturday's 83-79 loss to John Logan in the first round of the National Junior College Association of America Region XXIV playoffs, GOC had a six-game winning streak. They also had a six-game losing streak earlier in the year — right after they had won their first three games.

So, as you can see, the Stars were somewhat like your average yo-yo. Trying desperately to control the string was Collins, who has what has to be one of the toughest jobs one can imagine — coaching a junior college basketball team.

Unless a program is firmly established and a huge success — like the soccer program at Joliet — it might be simplifying things too much, there are basically two kinds of players that arrive at a junior college.

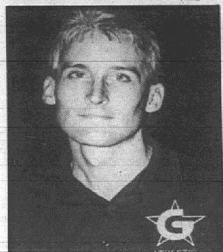

If the kid is exceedingly intelligent and doesn't have any problems in class, he's probably not a great talent as a player. If the player is a whirling dervish on the playing field/court, he's probably not quite on a par with Einstein in the classroom.

The student-athletes with both of those things going for them are almost always headed for four-year institutions. Of course, there are some who fit into only one of the two categories who make it to major universities. But there aren't many pre-med majors with a 30-points-per-game average in junior college.

So the coach has to deal with that, mold a diverse group of young men into a team and make sure the players keep up with their schoolwork. Still, for some, it can turn into a good experience.

"I don't think a lot of players coming out of high school know what they are missing in the junior college experience," Collins said. It can be a good experience for them if they want to make it work. Look at a player like Jesse Hall. He had a great high school career, but his freshman year (at Michigan State) hasn't exactly been a great one. That should make some of the other players in this area realize something.

If it was possible, Collins would probably like to recruit scads of players from the immediate area. The name recognition could do nothing but help raise interest in the GOC program. The "crowds" at Stars games would seem to indicate that interest could be raised a little.

"We wanted Vincent Harris (a member of Venice's state title team last year), and he could have helped us," Collins said. "But he went away to Parkland (a junior college in Champaign, Ill.) and now he's back home. We would still be interested in him."

There are others like Corey Silas and Charles Claggett who were out of the game and came back. Of course, we prefer getting them straight out of high school. But junior college basketball can be the best thing for many players.

Collins would probably be interested in local players like Madison's Clarence Williams or even Venice's Dale Turner. Turner is being looked at by some four-year schools, but Collins brings up Hall again. Although Turner has had an outstanding senior year, he can't quite be placed in Hall's class. Collins will need to rebuild as he loses Darwin Montana, Claggett, Robbie Carter, Don Stevan, Tyronne Kiner and Aaron Martin. Otis Ware, Dave Veizer and James Gordon will be back.

Gordon is the best of that returning threesome, but Ware is from Madison and Veizer is from Granite City. A few outstanding players from elsewhere combined with a large bunch of fairly local players would be the ideal situation.

The situation at Belleville Area College is a good one. The Dutchmen have compiled a 23-4 record with roster that looks like a who's who of recent metro east high school stars. Sure, their big gun is Chicago native Sherman Igles. But they also have Jon Sherry (Collinsville), Jany Humphreys (Bethalto), Wilfred Wigfall (Venice), Anthony Valentine (Madison) and Thomas Moore (Belleview West), just to mention a few.

"We want to get everybody we go after," Collins said. "We are making strides. This was our second year in Division I and we played Three Rivers (11-11) last year. I thought it would take four years to get to the national tournament. It was very disappointing to lose Saturday."

4 more kickers to college

A state championship is not the end of the line for the 16 Warrior seniors on last year's soccer team.

Although not all of them have officially made verbal commitments yet, it is expected that 15 of the 16 seniors will be playing college soccer this fall. Jim Burkhardt is enlisting in the Army.

Four more made verbal commitments last week. Backup goalkeeper Randy Chapman plans to attend Northeast Missouri State in Kirksville. Midfielder Dan Wilson will join Matt Krekovich at Columbia College in Columbia, Mo. Team captain Jeff Grote will play at Western Illinois University in Macomb. And fellow captain Mike Lane will play at Drake University in Des Moines, Ia.

Chapman was an able backup to Krekovich and played in parts of 10 shutouts for Granite City. Wilson was one of the hardest working Warriors while contributing two goals and seven assists for nine points as a first-year varsity player. He will join Krekovich and Scott Strack, a 1987 GCHS graduate, in Columbia's second-year program.

Grote follows in the family tradition at WIU. Older brothers Barry and Scott also went to Western and Scott will be starting his senior year there in the fall. Grote scored a goal and two assists and was solid as a rock at the stopper back position while earning all-state recognition. He is also the starting shortstop for the Warrior baseball team.

Lane had three goals from his fullback position and was also very steady all year. His penalty kick was the winning goal in the Warriors' 2-1 win over Naperville North in the state semifinals. Lane will join Brett Bjorkman and Billy Aleksandrian at Drake.

Several other seniors such as captain Kirk Mills, Mike Sellar and Rick Fyle are close to making verbal commitments. Letters of intent can be signed starting in April.

defense did a good job of staying patient."

Cahokia (3-20) tested the Tigers' nerves early, taking all of two shots in the first quarter. Meanwhile, Lincoln marched down the court after the Comanches' two misses, went straight for the hoop and led 4-0 after one quarter. Tiger center LaPhonso Ellis made his prize shot early. He blocked a shot, made two free throws and pulled off a thunder dunk in the first quarter to account for all of the scoring in the game's first eight minutes. Ellis went on to block five shots, score 27 points and pull down 20 rebounds.

The Comanches, who held the ball for more than seven minutes of the first quarter, put up their next five shots in less than 30 seconds each trip down the court and trailed 11-2.

"When we tried to knife through their tall people inside we were in trouble," McBride said. "We wanted to take 10- or 12-footers."

With a trap defense, Lincoln trashed Cahokia's slowdown game and the contest fell became no contest at all. Ellis blocked a Larry Wynn shot and Lawrence Bradford scored on a fast break at the other end to give the Tigers a 14-2 lead. Before long, Lincoln led 22-4.

"We went to the trap to speed up the game," Lewis said. "When we got the lead we could start picking spots to trap them. But we didn't stray too far from our defensive set."

"When it got to 22-4, what are you going to do?" McBride said. "After that, you've just got to let them play."

The Tigers then feasted on Cahokia, building their lead as much as 40 points. Almost every Tiger joined in on the fun to increase the margin. Vince Jackson finished with 16 points. Lawrence Bradford added 10 and Cuonzo Martin hit double figures with 10. Seven other Tigers buried at least one hoop.

Cahokia got second-half scoring help from sophomores Emmanuel Rogers, who knocked down three three-pointers and finished with 17 points. Senior Nate Braden had 10 and junior Larry Wynn added nine in a losing effort.
